

CHANGES TO BRITISH AIRWAYS CORPORATE CREDIT CARD FEES

Following on from changes made last year, we will be extending our surcharging policy to an additional six markets. This will allow us to continue to offer competitive pricing to our customers. The changes below will be effective as of 1 June 2023.

The new rates are reflective of the costs charged to British Airways by the credit card providers, which are assessed regularly. British Airways does not profit from these charges, as they contribute toward the fees levied by credit card companies.

REVISED CORPORATE CREDIT CARD FEE LEVELS

New percentage levels* will be charged as of 1 June 2023, as indicated in the table below:

	UK	IE	DE	NL	FI	CA	AUS	DK	NO	CZ	SI

*These levels apply to the total ticket value (fare plus taxes, fees and charges including the Carrier Imposed Charge) up to a maximum of GBP20/EUR25/AUD35/CAD30/CZK550/DKK170/NOK250 per ticket.

Credit Card Fees apply to:

- Any ticket issued on a BA 125 ticket validation where the form of payment is a corporate credit card.
- All fare types
- Transactions made using British Airways' card acceptance agreements (Merchant Agreements)
- Flights involving interline travel or codeshare
- Prime ticket issue only and not to any subsequent reissue or revalidation.
- Changes will apply to all bookings made in the UK, Ireland, Finland, Germany, Netherlands, Canada, Australia, Denmark, Norway, Czech Republic and Slovenia via any agents, including online agents.
Changes are made directly in ATPCO and will feed through to the GDS.

NOTE: The Credit Card Fee remains non-refundable.
